

Web Programming Web Site Project Description

In this project, you will build a web site by using the web page design technologies which are discussed in the classroom. You should use all of these technologies where they are suitable. The subjects of the projects are delivered in the class room. If you have not yet assigned to a project, please send me an e-mail (orhan.dagdeviren@izmir.edu.tr) including your name and your partner's name in the project. The milestones of the projects are listed below (Each item listed below will be demonstrated in your regular lab hour unless otherwise stated):

1. 13.December.2011: Delivery of the report including web page designs (sketches), a description of the web site, its services given to the user and reference web pages.
2. 27.December.2011: Client side of the project and its report delivery.
3. 3. January. 2012: Delivery of the report including server side descriptions.
4. 20. January.2012: Demonstration of the full web site and its comprehensive report delivery.
